CONFERENCE SPONSORSHIP

The Cascadia Prairie-Oak Partnership (CPOP) Conference brings together over 250 conservation practitioners from northern California to southwestern British Columbia to discuss the protection and restoration of the critically important prairie-oak ecosystem. Your sponsorship helps us facilitate important conversations that foster ingenuity, learning, and collaboration, leveraging even greater conservation from a community of motivated practitioners. And for the first time, we're building a scholarship fund to increase access.

Become a sponsor today and add your name to the incredible contributors who are shaping our future!

Benefits of Sponsorship (see table for full list):

- > Opportunity to network with conservation practitioners from federal, state, and local agencies, NGO's, academia, and more!
- > Recognition and logo display on conference website and in promotional emails (over 1000 recipients) as well as verbal recognition and conference materials (over 250 attendees).

Past Sponsors Include:

Eugene Parks and Open Space, Metro, The Nature Conservancy, Oregon Dept. of Fish & Wildlife, Pacific Birds Habitat Joint Venture, Rivers to Ridges Partnership, and the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service.

Benefits by Sponsorship Level	$5,000 and up	$3,000 - $4,999	$1,000 - $2,999	$500- $999	Up to $499
