CALL FOR SPONSORS

Become a sponsor today and add your name to the incredible organizations and individuals who help make the CPOP Conference possible!

The Cascadia Prairie-Oak Partnership (CPOP) Conference brings together over 200 conservation practitioners from northern California to southwestern British Columbia to discuss the protection and restoration of the critically important prairie-oak ecosystem. Your sponsorship helps us facilitate important conversations that foster ingenuity, learning, and collaboration, leveraging even greater conservation from a community of motivated practitioners. Sponsorship supports conference costs and enables our Access Fund to reduce the financial barrier of attendance and increase access for Indigenous peoples and other underrepresented individuals.

Benefits of Sponsorship (see table below for full list):

- Show your support for habitat restoration and species recovery.
- Network with a wide range of conservation practitioners from federal, state, and local agencies, NGOs, academia, and more!
- Have your logo displayed on the conference website and emails (over 1000 recipients), as well as in conference materials during the conference (over 200 attendees).

Past Sponsors Include:

US Fish & Wildlife Service, WA Dept. of Fish & Wildlife, Tualatin SWCD, Pacific Birds Habitat Joint Venture, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, Satinflower Nurseries, and more!
